Yokohama

YOKOHAMA is the great silk emporium of Japan. It is a cosmopolitan city and the popular port of the country.

More than half of Japanese foreign commerce is carried on through Yokohama. Imports for 1916 were $104,554,000 and exports $248,080,000.

The United States supplies practically all the fertilizer to Yokohama and dominates the Dutch Indies as a source of kerosene.
